

Jan. 19th, 1927.

Clivette
c/o The New Gallery
600 Madison Avenue
New York City

Clivette, you are a marvel. I have seen your paintings, and I, like my fellowmen, come to congratulate you when success is in your lap. Your success reminds me of those lines on the bust of Charles Kingsley in Westminster Abbey. "Fame for which he cared so little came to him at last".

You are in the hands of an old friend of mine, M. Hellman and I am sure no man is better qualified to give you your full measure of success.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) George H. Ainslie

GHA/AT