

A Queer, Unusual Personality Is Clivette

A COUPLE of years ago, Clivette, the 78-year-old poet, newspaper man and ex-circus performer, startled New York with his strange but remarkable paintings. Detroit had its first chance to see his vigorous, almost tumultuous expressions at the opening of the Ainslie Galleries in the Fisher Building on Saturday. This is the artist's conception of Walt Whitman. Clivette himself has been called the Walt Whitman of painting.
